

MORNING APPEAL.

THURSDAY.....AUGUST 22, 1878

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The Potter Investigation Committee is not the most inviting subject in this world of politics, letters and love. One wears of the iteration and reiteration, the contradictory statements, the downright disputes and the figures which do lie. We are not tired because we are of the Republican persuasion. Our sense of weariness is not of a partisan nature. We might be a Democrat and still be no less tired of so monotonous and profitless a business. Mrs. Jenks made things breezy, in a flash sort of way; and Anderson was interesting as a very shameless liar can be. But one gets easily satiated, yea, nauseated with such exhibitions of unblushing rascality and truthlessness as these people betray. Now the Committee, having crazed poor Leete and sent him to an Asylum, are taking a turn at one Burke, a Democratic politician from New Orleans. This person swears his side up and the other side down; swears to figures and results; swears to returns and rejections; swears Tilden in and Hayes out; swears Nicholls up and Packard out; and swears and swears again, up one side and down the other, like a true son of the Pelican State and a truly deluded Southern brother. He is very sure that Hayes' counting in was the result of a bargain made by Stanley Matthews, John Sherman et al with Lamar, Gordon, Ellis and the rest. It is the old story and but precious little more interesting for Mr. Burke's telling of it.

Missouri is in a very bad way regarding its State Treasury. Its securities are gone away, its treasurers and places of deposit are under a cloud and there is suspicion and uneasiness among the people.

Diggings of great richness have been discovered on the north fork of Stinking Water, Black Hills country. Three men took out 200 pounds of gold in a sluice made of a hollow log, in four months time.

The condition of things in fever-stricken Grenada is described as without an equal in the sad history of this disease. In all the country of the lower Mississippi the fever is raging with terrible violence. There are some cases reported in New York and Brooklyn. The Mayor of Boston, being called upon by the Mayor of Memphis for help, telegraphed at once giving permission to draw on him for $1,500.

Hon. Charles Foster has declined a re-nomination to Congress in the Seventh Ohio District. James B. Lusk has been nominated in his stead. Gen. Garfield has been re-nominated in his (the 19th) District.

An effort is making to induce President Hayes to remove Axtell from the Governorship of New Mexico.

Denis Kearney talked to a crowd of 4000 or 5000 people in Chicago on Tuesday night. The effort to propagate the California salmon in the waters of Germany has been successful.

KINKAD AND CONNOR.

The Eureka Sentinel of Tuesday states and speculates as follows:

These gubernatorial aspirants paid the Sentinel a friendly call yesterday. We have an idea that there is a strong fellow feeling between them. Both being from the Great East it would not be surprising if they unite common cause against the Story aspirants, particularly as the latter have shown a disposition to count them out in the Con-stock primaries. Governor Kinkad is a very affable gentleman, and makes a splendid impression wherever he goes. Indeed, we think there is more latent strength, more outgoings in him than any Republican candidate that has yet been named. He is the sort of man who grows with the canvass. It has been quietly whispered, in a confidential way, for some time that if Kinkad should receive the Republican nomination, certain influences would be set to work to keep Governor Bradley off the track. Be that as it may, Governor Kinkad is to be regarded as among the most formidable of candidates thus far brought forward by the opposition. He departs this morning for the West.

AGAINST BRADLEY.

A correspondent of the Reno Record (Democratic), writing from Eureka, says:

I have seen it stated that you are outspoken in opposition to the third term. I am truly glad that there are a few Democratic papers who stand by one of the old landmarks of Democracy, and bold enough to warn the party against such a departure. I think there is certain defeat by at least 2,000 votes if Bradley is forced on the party for a third term; in fact we in the East want a new deal all around. In the first and second races run by Bradley he received very many votes from Republicans, who desired a change from what was thought a rule in this State, but this will not occur again if Daggett or Connor is the Republican choice, and with Bradley and Connor in the field, Connor will lead him 2,000 votes. This is no guess work. Bradley will get no Republicans and Connor will get many Democrats.

REMAINS FOUND.—Says the Reno Record of Tuesday evening:

The remains of what is supposed to have been an Indian were found this morning in the rear of Mr. Young's residence, near the Lake House, by persons hauling rock for the building of the foundation of the pavilion. It is supposed to have been dead about a year. On the body were found an Odd Fellow's pin and an old blanket and other trappings. The remains were buried by the Coroner this morning.

SAMUEL M. POLLARD is tending bar in Tuscarora.

MISCELLANEOUS TELEGRAMS.

Helena, M. T., August 20.—Indians last night stole the stage stock from Pine Butte and Spring Hill stations, a few miles north of Pleasant Valley, Idaho, and eight head from near Camas Creek, thirty miles south of Pleasant Valley. It is also said they have stolen a band of horses from a rancher near Spring Hill. They are supposed to be Banuocks from Idaho. They will probably pass through Yellowstone Park.

Muscatine, Iowa, August 20.—The most violent storm known in this region for many years raged here last night. The lowlands were flooded and considerable property destroyed. No lives lost.

Toronto, Ont., August 20.—James Riley of Saratoga and Warren Smith are matched to row on Bedford Basin, September 5, three miles and turn, for $500 a side.

Chicago, August 20.—George Close and Michael Haley were arrested at the house of a German, near Riverside, this evening on suspicion of being concerned in the recent murder of A. B. Clarke at La Grange. The mystery of this murder deepens every day, and the Coroner's inquest does not seem capable of shedding any light upon it. Even to-night's arrests were merely made under suspicious circumstances.

Cincinnati, August 20.—The warehouse of Freeburg & Workum, extensive dealers in liquor, on Main street, was partially destroyed by fire this morning. Loss about $35,000; insurance, $30,000.

Deadwood, D. T., August 20.—Mrs. John Callison was found this morning murdered in bed. Her forehead was completely mashed in with some heavy instrument. No clue to the murderer nor cause for the brutal act yet discovered.

Savannah, Ga., August 20.—W. D. R. Miller killed W. V. Goodwin this afternoon. Goodwin threatened to kill Miller for alleged seduction of his daughter.

New York, August 20.—A Celebrated Case will be performed in New York Theater, Brooklyn, next week with Bessie Turner as Julie.

Patrick S. Gilmore, of Gilmore's Band, has sent a dispatch from Berlin denying the truth of the rumor that the band was in trouble, and directing his counsel to bring suit for $100,000 damages if the publication was libelous. He says the band is in excellent condition and he will return about the middle of September.

Washington, August 20.—Chief Engineer Lakey of the United States steamer Wyoming has arrived with dispatches and reports that the Wyoming lost her screw two days out from Southampton. The Chief Engineer left the vessel in a pilot boat twenty-five miles off Cape Henry. All well.

The Navy Department does not entertain the slightest fear for the safety of the Wyoming. It is presumed she is out of coal and does not meet with sufficient wind to carry her into port. The tug Fortune is now searching for her.

New York, August 20.—Judge Daniels, in the matter of restraining Thomas McGuire from producing the play of "Diplomacy" at Baldwin's Theater, San Francisco, continued the injunction to-day. The Court held that plaintiffs are entitled to redress without waiting for affidavits; that the present papers are sufficient, and that when McGuire was found within this jurisdiction plaintiffs are entitled to serve the injunction order on him.

RACY.—The style of minor editorials fashioned by the Reno Gazette are of a very fresh and racy character and decidedly crisp and readable. Here is an example:

The Ward Reflex does not seem to be in love with Wm. W. Hobart, State Controller, and editorially mutilates a rash postmaster who is afflicted in that way. The Reflex will admit that Hobart has served the people faithfully, but when it comes to making an idol out of such material the Reflex can not be counted in. The postmaster, who is now just able to walk around, has been writing some letters to the Eureka Leader, in which he washes the feet of Hobart with ink and dries them with the fire of his imagination. The Reflex detected Mr. Reilly in this reprehensible amusement, and grasping the tripod, proceeded to hammer the epistolary spirit out of Mr. Reilly. The frame of the Reflex editorial is made of these two broad facts: Mr. Hobart is not a crown prince, and acknowledges no practical and abiding interest in this State or its government; Mr. Reilly cannot supervise the large mail of Ward-town and at the same time evolve effective eulogies upon deceased politicians. About these bones the Reflex has grouped much sarcastic flesh and rhetorical fat. The sarcasm thus constructed chills the anonymous nature of Reilly, and will probably drive him from the profession of letters entirely.

DRAWN TO DEATH.—Says the Eureka Leader of Monday.

By private letter from Cherry Creek, we learn that, on the 15th instant, Justice Cameron, of White Pine county, held an inquest on the body of Maxwell Kinner, better known as "Red Kinner," who was killed in Kern District, in the eastern part of White Pine county. He was thrown from a horse, and, his foot becoming entangled in the stirrup, he was dragged two hundred yards before animal was caught, and lived but a few moments afterward. Deceased was on his way westward from Utah with his partner, driving some two hundred head of cattle. The remains were buried in Spring Valley.

IRREVERENT.—The Reno Gazette alludes to one of the great men of our time in the following terms:

Calvin B. McDonald, the most brilliant journalist in California (if you are in doubt about it ask him) is said to be on the way to Reno with his lecture on the "Massacre of Glencoe." Competent critics say that in listening to Mr. McDonald's lecture the soul becomes filled with a wild regret that the massacre of the early McDonalds was not total.

CHARGED WITH ELECTRICITY.—Says the Eureka Sentinel of Tuesday:

The house of Mr. Lawson, of Silver City, says the Times, was charged with electricity during the thunder shower last Wednesday. Mrs. Lawson, having picked up a fork, received a shock that suddenly caused her to drop the instrument. The kitchen utensils were also so heavily charged that when touched they emitted sparks as large as those generated by the batteries used for blasting.

COOL AND COLLECTED.—Of an unflinching hero of the Base Range, the Sentinel says:

It was in the Corner saloon, and he had just been invited to take a drink, and stood leaning on his elbow on the counter when the avalanche of water struck South Main street, and the alarm was sounded by the shrieking whistles and the frantic ringing of the fire bells. Men and women went nearly crazy and the wildest excitement prevailed, but he did not waver, or for a moment lose his presence of mind. He called for whisky sour, and drank it with a coolness and rare presence of mind deserving of honorable mention.

THE Democratic Central Committee of Washoe County have appointed Thursday, September 19, as the day for holding their primary elections. Washoe has ten delegates to the State Convention—which will be held in this city on Monday, September 23.

MARRIED.

In Carson, on Wednesday, August 21, 1878, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. Father Tormey, Hon. William Woodburn of Virginia City to Miss Mary E. Duff of Carson.

The credentials came with this announcement—that is to say, the cake and wine. The happy pair left here last night on the lightning express for White Sulphur Springs, the property of the happy bridegroom. This is a very happy pair, most happily matched. We offer our congratulations and our blessing.
